MARYLAND COURT OF APPEALS LIMITS LIMITATIONS ON LIMITATIONS

The Maryland Court of Appeals recently created a new standard for the enforceability of contract provisions that seek to shorten the time in which a party can file claims against the other party.

LOST AT TRIAL IN MARYLAND? WHAT NOT TO DO ON APPEAL!

So, you thought you had a good case going into trial, but things did not go quite the way you anticipated. Rest assured that the trial court's decision need not be the end of the line. The appellate courts exist because the trial courts do not always get it right.

HOW AND WHEN TO FILE AN APPEAL

So, you thought the trial went well, but somehow the judge didn't see things your way. Your trial counsel is stressing, and you're wondering what happened and whether you have any recourse. Sounds like the scenario for a potential appeal.
