

Jack Blum wins 2017 Author of the Year Award

Jack Blum (former Associate) was awarded 2017 Author of the Year by the Federal Bar Association Labor and Employment Law Section.

Jack, who is a member of the firm's Litigation and Employment Law groups, was recognized for:

"Outstanding contributions to the Section publications of the Labor and Employment Law Section of the Federal Bar Association."

For a sample of his work please click the links below:

- "A Brave New World: Developments in the Circuits (and Soon the Supreme Court?) on Title VII Coverage of Sexual Orientation Discrimination," The Labouring Oar, Federal Bar Association Labor and Employment Law Section Newsletter, Summer 2017
- "Election Year Labor and Employment Law Considerations for Private Employers," The Labouring Oar, Federal Bar Association Labor and Employment Law Section Newsletter, Summer 2016

