

From Wort to Wages: Employment Law Basics for Breweries

Craft breweries experience many of the same concerns as other types of small and independent businesses. However, the unique physical work environment and culture of craft breweries means that most of the one-sized-fits-all employment law advice targeting the 9-5 office environments falls short.

This webinar was focused on common employment law issues specifically taking into account those factors that make craft breweries different. Watch the video below to learn how to avoid costly and difficult to correct problems and protect your brewery while keeping it a great place to work!