

Dispute Prevention in the Time of COVID-19: Exploring a Global Solution to Insurance for COVID-19

Robert Shulman and Cristen Rose presented a webinar on Wednesday, April 29, 2020 through the International Institute for Conflict Prevention and Resolution.

The webinar, entitled Dispute Prevention in the Time of COVID-19: Exploring a Global Solution to Insurance for COVID-19, was jointly presented by the CPR Institute's Insurance and Environmental Committees.

The panelists examined the effects of the coronavirus pandemic as it related to insurance from the policyholder and carrier perspectives and explored how all stakeholders can work together to reach a global resolution to disparate problems. This webinar was also a platform for dialogue between insurers and their corporate policyholders to explore the development of a proposal to partner with the government.

More information can be found on the CPR website.

Robert Shulman is Chair of the Insurance Recovery group and a member of the firm's Litigation and Appellate Practice groups. Cristen Rose is a Principal in the firm's Insurance Recovery, Regulatory Law, and Litigation practice groups.

Robert Shulman - Chair, Cristen Rose - Principal