

Howard Soypher Elected a Fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers

Howard Soypher (former Principal) was elected a Fellow of the American Academy of Matrimonial Lawyers (AAML), a national organization whose members are recognized for maintaining the highest degree of professionalism, integrity and excellence in the practice of family law.

He becomes one of only 30 attorneys in the state of Maryland to be named to the prestigious group, joining Paley Rothman colleague Glenn Cooper as an AAML Fellow. Howard, who was a member of the firm's Litigation and Family Law practice groups, has received numerous honors in recent years, the most recent of which were a mention in the May/June 2010 Bethesda Magazine "Top Divorce Lawyers" selections and being named a 2011 Maryland Super Lawyer "Rising Star" in Family Law.