

Jim Hammerschmidt Co-Authors Article on Independent Contractors for Maryland Bar Journal

Jim Hammerschmidt co-wrote an article that appeared in the Nov.-Dec. 2013 edition of the Maryland Bar Journal that was devoted to Labor & Employment Law. The piece, entitled “Employee or Independent Contractor? Historical Perspective, Current Risks and Practical Tips,” provided a comprehensive overview of the question posed in the title—and covered a wide range of employment issues, legal traps and best practices having to do with distinguishing an employee from an independent contractor.

The article, “Employee or Independent Contractor? Historical Perspective, Current Risks and Practical Tips,” can be found on our Publications page.