

Scott Mirsky Talks With Employment Authority Regarding the Future of Telework

Paley Rothman Employment Law Attorney Scott Mirsky spoke with Vin Gurrieri of Employment Authority and was quoted in the article, "Musk's Stance On Telework May Lead Copycats Astray" on June 3, 2022.

The article explores possible outcomes of companies following Elon Musk's steps and removing telework as an option for employees.

"when you're dealing with a remote workforce, wage and hour issues are probably one of the ... biggest minefields," notes Mirsky.

Scott Mirsky is a Principal in the firm's Employment Law and Litigation practice groups.

The full article "Musk's Stance On Telework May Lead Copycats Astray" can be found on Law360.com (subscription is required).